Provide basic emergency life support

About the Course

Whether for work, sport, or leisure activities at home the ability to provide basic emergency life support can save someone's life. This course will provide you with an opportunity to gain the knowledge and skills required to provide an emergency response in a range of situations including community, sport, event and workplace settings.

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to recognise and respond to life-threatening emergencies in line with first aid guidelines determined by the Australian Resuscitation Council (ARC) and other Australian national peak clinical bodies.

This unit applies to all persons who may be required to provide an emergency response in a range of situations, including community and workplace settings.
